

Youth "Digital Connectors" Honored for Service to Eden Housing

April 25, 2007

San Jose, Calif. - San Jose's Eden Housing Digital Connectors identified talented young people, immersed them in technology training, and helped them build their leadership and workplace skills to enter the new economy. Youth received training and participated in community service opportunities in the areas of technology instruction, technical support, digital media, marketing, work-force readiness and leadership development.

In San Jose, these young people have become a tremendous asset to their Eden Housing community, providing over 200 hours of computer training and refurbished more than 100 computers to Eden Palms and Ohlone Chynoweth residents.

On Apr. 16th, One Economy Corporation joined with community partners, friends, family, and program alumni to honor the achievements of the 2007-2008 class.
